For many people a wheel chair is the restriction to life or disappointment. When disabled people think they will be dependent on it by the end of their lives, maybe for them, their date of death is the day when they learn that they are disabled. Not only disabled people but also their relatives and friends may think that the life came to an end for them. But beside this pessimistic opinions, there are people who think positively and say that a wheel chair is not a restriction.

For us a wheel chair is a joyful toy and a new freedom and we wanted to show that it a enjoyable experiences, We are sure you will go on such joyful activities.

Everything in our life depends on perspective on our life. The life can bring many challenges to our life, but we can change everything and cope with these difficulties. It does not matter whatever the situation is.
